Natural veneer

Natural Veneer is a type of overlay decorative surface made by cutting a very thin layer of the wood. In contrast to solid wood, natural veneers are obtained by peeling blocks of wood to create thin slices. One can make tens or hundreds of wood veneers from the same log of wood, making them more naturally sustainable in preserving resources.

ABOUT US

Realply is one of the fastest-growing decorative veneer and plywood brand in India. Armed with the power of a vast network of dealers and distributors, Realply has been consistently producing dazzling designs for its consumers.

Since its inception over 20 years ago, Realply has embarked on a journey of innovation that works in tandem with technological advances that we see around; with which, the company has been able to become the fastest growing decorative veneer and plywood brand. To stay at the forefront, Realply's in-house R&D department is constantly developing newer methods to produce veneer arrangements, in an environmentally conscious way.

Right from sourcing top-quality raw materials from around the world to ensuring robust quality control, Realply believes in quality over quantity. With our world-class infrastructure and extremely broad product range, we are pioneering the way for the industry in a way that's unheard of. We believe in creating an organization for generations to last, our vision extends our working hands in an amazing way such that the motivation and power to move forward, grows exponentially.
